

Shuck Productions Announce Merger and Rebrand with Northfolk

Blackpool, Lancashire. Release Date: 03/01/2019. For Immediate Release

Shuck Productions, a video production company, announced today a major rebrand and merge with Northfolk, a web design company, to form Northfolk, a digital media company.

Jordan Shuck, owner of Shuck Productions, said “the merger with Northfolk promises a new and more focussed approach towards creating content for our clients”. He went on to say “I am looking forward to getting started in 2019 with the new Northfolk”.

This merger came about after creating a number of projects together and the decision made by both Jordan Shuck and Nathaniel Read to merge the two companies was made in the latter end of 2018.

Regarding the branding, the Shuck Productions logo and website will no longer be active or used, except in circumstances where the brand has been used in projects previous to the date of this statement. The Northfolk branding shall be used from this date forward.
